

Support HB 1089 to Ban Agenda 2030 in North Dakota

URGENT: The House Energy and Natural Resources Committee passed an amendment to HB 1089 that guts and significantly undermines the bill. The bill no longer nullifies the UN and its Agenda 21 and 2030 plans. The amended version is toothless, nullifying only a small segment of potential UN edicts, and providing a loophole allowing state and local governments to adopt UN edicts themselves. Urge your state legislators to reverse this toothless amendment, and support total nullification of the United Nations.

The original provisions of HB 1089 are listed below:

The bill declared:

2. This state or a political subdivision may not adopt or implement a law, ordinance, or policy that deliberately or inadvertently infringes on or restricts private property rights in accordance with an agenda, plan, or resolution adopted by the United Nations or an associated organization of the United Nations, without due process including:
 - a. Agenda 21;
 - b. The net-zero emissions plan;
 - c. The 2030 agenda for sustainable development; or
 - d. Any other international law or international plan of action that conflicts with the United States Constitution or the Constitution of North Dakota.
3. This state or a political subdivision may not expend public funds or provide financial aid to a nongovernmental or intergovernmental organization implementing a policy relating to agenda 21, the net-zero emissions plan, the 2030 agenda for sustainable development, or any other related plan or initiative.

Furthermore, HB 1089 would have explicitly nullify federal health or climate regulations:

A health-related regulation of an international health organization, either directly through the organization or indirectly through law, regulation, or order of the federal government, is not enforceable in this state.

Members of the North Dakota Legislative Assembly are seeking to enact legislation to ban the United Nations' totalitarian Agenda 2030 within North Dakota.

House Bill No. 1089 (HB 1089) is sponsored by Representative Jeff Hoverson (R-Minot) and is co-sponsored by three representatives and one senator. If enacted, it would ban state and local government agencies from implementing the UN's 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and would nullify federal health and climate regulations.

Dangers of Agenda 2030

Agenda 2030, officially titled "the 2030 Agenda," is a United Nations program based on the UN Local Agenda 21 program unveiled in 1992 and the UN Millennium Development Goals released in 2000. Under the guise of "sustainable development," this plan seeks totalitarian control and regimentation of the entire planet, including the economy, our country, our lives, and our children.

Agenda 2030's goals include "universal health coverage," "vaccines for all," and "universal access to sexual and reproductive health-care services, including for family planning [i.e., abortion]" (Goal 3). It also advocates for socialist indoctrination of youth (Goal 4), global wealth redistribution (Goal 10), and radical actions to combat alleged "climate change" (Goal 13). None of these goals are constitutional or even adhere to the spirit of the U.S. Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

Other prominent examples of Agenda 2030's implementation include the global war on farmers, carbon-capture pipelines, and the transition toward "green" energy.

Although touted as "nonbinding," Agenda 2030 is being implemented in communities across the U.S. via "soft law," meaning that portions of the agenda are adopted into local, state, and federal laws, thus becoming legally binding. As a result, Americans are losing the ability as citizens to run their own communities through elected officials.

One of the main nongovernmental organizations pushing Agenda 2030 "sustainable development" at the local level is ICLEI — Local Governments for Sustainability. Additionally, many local governments — including those outside of ICLEI — have "sustainable development" plans. These plans often don't mention the UN or Agenda 2030, but they're clear steps toward implementing this subversive scheme.

Accordingly, state legislators must enact strong legislation completely preventing state or local government involvement in Agenda 2030 schemes. Please contact your state legislators and urge them to enact HB 1089 and completely ban state and local government involvement in Agenda 2030 and "sustainable development" schemes.
