

The mainstream narrative is that there isn't any voting fraud. In fact, many pushing for mail-in ballots claim that voting fraud is a myth used to restrict Democratic voters. Even the so-called fact checkers have called President Trump's assertions of potential voter fraud "Trumped-Up."

Yet, just recently a Democratic operative admitted to massive mail-in vote fraud that had been going on for decades.

We'll look at these claims and suggest ways you can help in this episode of Activate America, getting active to throw off government tyranny.
